International Journal of Electronics & Informatics (IJEI)

ISSN: 2186-0114

Author's Guide:

The IJEI is a peer-reviewed journal and hence only quality papers are welcome for the IJEI.
Key points for authors before submitting the paper:

- Ensure that your paper adheres to the rules and guidelines for submission to the journal.
- Contributions should be double-spaced and written in English as per the Template.
- Title does not exceed two lines in print and 150 characters (including spaces) at most, without any numbers, acronyms, abbreviations or punctuation [usually].
- Page limit: 6~10 pages. If more information should be included, author can add these as supplementary materials (online only; e.g., data, extra tables, methods, calculations, more images, etc.) and these may be uploaded online along with the paper if the reviewers agree upon to keep them.
- References are each numbered, ordered sequentially as they appear in the text and should follow the formats as per the Template, and at most 50 references are allowed (for more, mention why).
- Figures must not be cut-n-paste and the texts inside Figures, Graphs and Tables must follow the Font-style of the text. Ensure clear and good quality picture in the first submission. Ensure the copyright from publishers or authors - if you use from other sources, with proper reference. Authors will be responsible for copyright of these materials. Also, ensure that the printing quality of your figures and graphs are understandable if one prints the paper in Black-White printer.
- Submission method: Online. Contact us.
- Copyright information: The author is responsible for obtaining copyright releases and corporate & security clearance issues before submitting the paper for review. Be careful about duplication publication and self-plagiarism and submit after considering these carefully. For a gross plagiarism in a paper, all of the authors of that paper will be permanently excluded from paper submission to the IJEI, as well as, IJEI will officially report to the respective institutes for further clarifications.

Peer-review policy of IJEI:

- All papers submitted to the IJEI are first examined by an Editor.
  And the paper which is most likely to meet the editorial criteria of the IJEI will be assigned to at least two referees for review.
- Review result may take 1 month.
- Reviewers' identity will remain undisclosed.
- Author may recommend some reviewers - however, Editors are entitled to consider them or not.

The Editors will make a decision on a paper - based on the reviewers' comments, as one of the three states:

- Accept to publish - with or without Minor Revisions;
- Accept to publish with Major Revision - Authors will be advised to revise the manuscript to address specific concerns before a final decision is reached, and a short period will be offered to do that. The paper will be re-reviewed based, and authors must write a cover letter, addressing all concerns of all reviewers.
